

George Miller is Senior Sales Manager for National Fleets at BYD. His work includes customer engagement, financial analysis+proposal development, ongoing project management and general product marketing.

Prior to joining BYD, George worked at BlueWave Solar as Director of Business Development, sourcing sites and marketing power with public+private customers and helping to establish BlueWave's Community Solar partner program. Earlier in his career, George worked at the Kauffman Foundation in Kansas City, promoting entrepreneurship through research, policy, education and programs. He also worked at Dynabond Powertech in Beijing, supporting entry into the Chinese nuclear market.

George received his MBA from MIT's Sloan School of Management, where he focused on energy entrepreneurship. While at MIT, he directed the Clean Energy Prize, Content for Energy Night, and Marketing for the Energy Finance Forum. He holds a BA from Williams College where he captained the Varsity squash team.